

Personal DailyWalk

This week, check out the song, King of the World by Natalie Grant. It is so easy to shrink down God to a size we can comprehend. How silly are we? This week, reflect on the greatness of our God so that you can stretch your vision of how big our God really is.

January 14-20, 2019

Monday: Genesis 1 I'm always amazed at not only the creativity of God, but also how He sees His creation as good. Pray to the God of creation, thanking Him for being patient with His creation.

Tuesday: Exodus 14 God always provides a path out of our own wilderness and to safety, we just have to have faith that it really is there. Pray for God to help you find the path He has provided you.

Wednesday: Ezekiel 37:1-14 We have periods in our lives when we just feel lost to God. We feel disconnected and don't feel like he can bring life into these sack of bones that are just walking through this world. God says otherwise. He will breath His life, His spirit, into our dry bones. Pray for God to breath His spirit into your life.

Thursday: Psalm 40 Two things strike me in this Psalm. (1) How bold we can be in prayer to God; and (2) How God is merciful to hear our cries. Reflect on where you are in this Psalm, and pray in thanksgiving on God's wondrous deeds in your life.

Friday: John 2:1-2 Jesus' first miracle. Pray in thanksgiving for the gift of Jesus as a reminder of not only what God has given us, but what God has sacrificed for us.

Saturday: John 11:38-44 I hope you read the whole story, but once again, we see the wondrous and incredible miracles that God can and does for His children. Pray for eyes that see the Glory of God in this world as you await His Kingdom.

Sunday: Matthew 28:1-10 Go and tell the world of the wonders of God, the beauty of Jesus, and the hope of the Spirit. Listen one more time to Natalie Grant's song, King of the World.

Christ Centered + Mission Driven + Life Transforming